THE ARMY INQUIRY. Only Two Witnesses Examined at

Atlanta. ATLANTA, Oct. 22.-The investigating commissioners examined only two witnesses here. They were Major Blair

B. Taylor, surgeon in charge of the general military hospital here, and Rev. Orville J. Nave, chaplain of that institution. Both appeared at the afternoon session of the commission. Major Taylor related the history of the hospital from its inception. He said that recently he had had no difficulty in securing supplies, as he had been given carte blanche to purchase them. This authority, however, had not been given until the 1st of August, whereas it had been asked as early as the 25th of June. He had had in the beginning of the camp's history considerable difficulty in getting requisitions filled, aithough he had no difficulty in getting them approved by the authorities at Washington. One requisition made on the 16th of May and another on the 24th of June had not been entirely filled until very recently. These requisitions had been made upon the New York supply depot, while all that were made on the St. Louis depot had been promptly filled. One hundred and sixteen cots ordered in the beginning of the season had arrived only a day or two since, and they were not now needed. Dr. Taylor had, on account of the delay in filling these requisitions, been compelled to call upon the surgeon general for a portion of his special fund and had thus prevented any suffering among patients. Among the articles in which there was delay was bed linen.

Dr. Taylor said he had found the 60 cents a day commutation fund more than sufficient to furnish food for the sick men and expressed the opinion that 40 cents per day would be sufficient for the purpose of supplying food. Dr. Taylor stated in reply to a question that he considered Atlanta an excellent piace for a winter hospital.

Rev. Orville J. Nave, post chaplain at Fort McPherson, said he had visited every patient who had been in the hospital and that he had never heard a single complaint from a man who was possessed of his reason, when on the contrary he had heard many expressions of gratitude and commendation for the excellent conduct of the hos-pital. Mr. Nave expressed the opinion that in the conduct of military hospitals generally there was too little care of the clothes and other property of patients.

Replying to a question from General Wilson, Chaplain Nave said he had seen some of the surgeons at the hospital under the influence of liquor, but not to such an extent as to interfere with the proper performance of their

PORTO RICO POLITICS. Retention of the Autonomist Cabinet

Opposed. SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Oct. 22,-Considerable political excitement prevails here owing to the fact that Senor Munoz Rivera, president of the recent Autonomist council of secretaries; Senor Bianco, secretary of the treasury; Senor Lopez, secretary of justice, and Senor Carbonnel, secretary of the interior-all elected last March on the Autonomist platform-are continued by Major General Brooke in their respective offices. Their political opponents suggest public demonstrations against such continuance.

Investigation by the American authorities, however, has led to the conclusion that they are all men of excellent standing and that their retention in office will be the best way to preserve tranquillity in the insular administration until such time as the United States congress can take action regarding Porte Rico. It is distinctly understood that this cabinet will act under the control of the American military government.

During the continuance of the military administration a strong attempt will be made to hold in abeyance insular politics. All government institutions, local and general, will be continued, partisan politics being elimi-

Six hundred Spanish soldiers and officers, including General Ortega, who was second in command under Captain General Macias, are embarking on the British transport Montevideo. When the Montevideo has sailed, there will remain only a few Spanish officers, who have personal business to attend to.

The administration of local affairs in San Juan is progressing as before. Dr. Brechemin, who succeeds Dr. Huidekoper; is vigorously taking hold of matters relating to public health and sanitation. A system of street cleaning will soon be inaugurated.

The oath of allegiance to the United States has been taken by five judges of the superior court of Porto Rico, who later will administer the same oath to their subordinates. Spanish judges who do not desire to forswear their alleglance to Spain will be returned to the neniasula ed as Re-enforcements-Campaign Likely to Be Long-Murder of Missionary Cause of Trouble.

PRETORIA, South African Republic, Oct. 22.—Serious trouble is brewing with the Magato tribe, in the Zoutpansberg district, south of the Limpop river. The natives recently massacred a Lutheran missionary and his family at the town of Zoutpansberg, and the Transvaal government sent an expedition to punish them. Chief Opefu, with 20,000 followers, fully armed, and four cannon supplied by white traders, has attacked the laager. Heavy fighting is proceeding.

The ultimatum of the commanding officer of the Transvaal troops, General P. J. Joubert, demanding an unconditional surrender, has been ignored by the tribesmen, and he has summoned 3,000 burghers to re-enforce the 5,000 now in the field. The campaign promises to be pro-

The scene of the fighting between the Transvaal burghers under General Joupert and the tribesmen who follow Chief Opefu is the extreme northern section of Transvaal territory, west of Gasa country (Umhlengaland) and southeast of the country of the Matabele. It is in the very heart of a district inhabited by some of the bravest and most intractable of South African tribesmen. Chief Opefu has long been a thorn in the side of the Transvaal government.

General Joubert, who is conducting the operations against the tribesmen, is vice president of the South African Republic as well as commander in chief of the Transvaal army. He was elected vice president on May 13, 1896. He was one of the founders of the South African Republic, constituting with Paul Krueger, now president of the republic. and Marthinus Wessels Pretorius, the triumvirate which proclaimed it on Dec.

THE FASHODA AFFAIR.

The French Public Is Eager For

PARIS, Oct. 22. - A change has come over French opinion on the Fashoda question during the last 48 hours. The attitude of the public is more inflamed and more deflant. This is partly due to the tone of the British press, but more to the threatening speech of the British chancellor of the exchequer, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach. which the Autorite calls "a provocation that is almost a threat of war.' The municipal council of Paris is abused on all sides for exhorting the government to avert war.

In government circles the disposition seems to be to-resist-the British-demands.

It is reported that the policy of France, as definitely stated to Great Britain, includes the retention of Fashoda. Rumors that the Russian foreign minister. Count Muravieff, has assured M. Delcasse, the French foreign minister, of Russia's support in the controversy tend to stiffen the backs of the higher officials, although these continue to maintain a conciliatory tore and declare that France is prepared to carry amiability to the utmost limits consistent with her rights and dignity.

England Thinks War Lulikely. LONDON, Oct. 22.-Government circles here are apparently satisfied that the Fashoda question will not lead to war. At the same time the determination is reiterated not to budge from the position which the British government has taken up, no matter what the outcome may be. It is said on good authority that the British government has also determined not to brook unreasonable delay and that in the event of France declining to evacuate Fashoda the Marchand party will be removed from that place, although it is not expected that it will be necessary to resort to such extremes.

Dublin Cheers Major Marchand. DUBLIN, Oct. 22.-Mr. William Redmond. THE CUBAN DEBT.

London Speaker Says Spain Cannot Put It Onto the United States.

LONDON, Oct. 22.-The Speaker, in a long article on the peace commission,

"The reluctance of America to annex Cuba to mainly due to a desire to escape the burden of the Cuban debt. At the same time the doctrine of international law by which a debt incurred by a ruler binds his successors rests upon slight foundation.

"It is monstrous that a tyrant should be able to burden future generations simply because he is in possession of the material government. If investors felt that in international law loans incurred against the will of the people would not attach to the country in the event of a change of government there would be less of that monetary support of misgovernment which has disgraced the high fluance of the nineteenth century.

"For 50 years Spain has ruled Cuba in defiance of the will of the Cuban people and in spite of the constant protest of the United States. The cost of her military operations there has been met by loans specially chargeable upon Cuba. In the first place, in order to punish the Cubans, and, in the second, in order to arrange for a cheap retreat in the event of being driven out by America.

"In a word, the debt has been charged upon Cuba largely with the object of saddling it upon the United States. The bondholders were encouraged to look to the supposed doctrine of international law as part of the security, while they knew they were lending to Spain against the will of both Cubans and Americans. It is to be hoped that the United States, while assuming soverelgnty over Cuba, will refuse to pay any part of the debt except the money used in the development of the island, thereby setting a most useful precedent of which tyrants and financiers will do well to take note."

KILLED BY CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.

Medical Attention Might Have Saved Frederic's Life, Witnesses Say.

LONDON, Oct. 22.-At the inquest into the death of Harold Frederic, the well known author and London correspondent of the New York Times, who died on Wednesday, Mr. Frederic's daughter Ruth said her father did not believe in doctors. She added that it was with his consent but under the influence of others that Mrs. Mills, a Christian Scientist, was summoned to attend him.

Kate Lyon, a member of the Frederic household, testified that the deceased had asked her to call in Mrs. Mills. and the latter came to the house and expounded the system followed by the Christian Scientists. On the same day Mr. Frederic dismissed the doctors who had been in attendance on him. Most of Mrs. Mills' treatment, continued the witness, was what was known as "absent treatment." At the request of friends of the sick man the doctors were again summoned, but the deceased informed them that when they had previously been attending him he had not followed their directions.

Mr. John Stokes, Mr. Frederic's amanuensis, testified that he had informed Kate Lyon she might be charged with manslaughter if Mr. Frederic died without receiving medical treatment.

Drs. Brown and Frieberger, the physicians who had attended Mr. Frederic, said the deceased had suffered from rheumatic fever and that he was paralyzed on one side. His death, they asserted, was due to syncope. Both declared their belief that with proper treatment the patient would have recovered.

The inquest was adjourned until Wednesday in order to allow of the attendance of Mrs. Mills.

REACHED COLUMBUS LAST NICHT.

Continuous Ovation Along the Line-A Man Killed While Firing a Cannon In the President's Honor.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 22.—One continuous ovation marked the passage of President McKinley yesterday over the states of Indiana and Ohio. Defying the wind and rain of a most disagreeable October day, the citizens of these states congregated in great numbers at every station along the line, and never were they disappointed, for the president appeared at every point to speak a few words to his constituents. Perhaps the most imposing demon-stration of the day was at Indianapolis, where the streets through which the president was driven to the state house were jammed with cheering people. Here, on the steps of the state capitol, the president delivered one of the most striking and eloquent addresses of his long western tour. The trip through northern Indiana was without incident until Kokomo was reached at 9 a.m. Here the president was given an ovation, and he made a brief speech that was interrupted by an accident. James Jones, while ramming the cannon that was firing a salute in honor of the president, was caught by a premature discharge of the gun. Both of his arms were torn off, one eye was put out, and he died just as the train was starting for Tipton.

President McKinley was almost within sight of the sad affair and expressed his regrets. At Tipton the president spoke six minutes and talked of pros-

At Connersville, Ind., a 2-months-old baby was handed over the railing of the rear platform into the arms of Secretary Wilson, who presented to the president his youngest namesake. William Mc-Kinley. Another humorous incident was when Secretary Wilson was introduced after the president had finished his remarks at Connersville. Twice Mr. Wilson commenced to speak and twice he was interrupted by the starting of the train. Then Secretary Gage shouted, "The eloquence of the secretary of agriculture starts the wheels going."

Amid great laughter Mr. Wilson then concluded his brief address and the train pulled out.

The president in his speech at Noblesville, Ind., said:

"Rejoicing as we do over the victories of war, let us be careful in justice and right to gather the triumphs of peace. The soldiers have done their part. The citizens must now do theirs. And I pray God that wisdom may be given all of us to so settle this vexed and vast problem as to bring honor to our country, justice to humanity and the general good of all."-

The president then introduced Secretary Gage, who spoke briefly.

At Rushville, Ind., the president in the course of a brief speech said: "Now, having triumphed in war, we must be sure that in the settlements of the war we shall see that justice and righteousness and humanity shall prevail. The work is now with you, for in a government like ours the people con-

the executive and is at last crystallized into public law and public policy ' At Oxford, O., he was greeted by a crowd of students in cap and gown, to stitute the power of the government. It rests and resides with you, and your will is the command to congress and to whom he made a brief speech. The last stop before Cincinnati was reached was Hamilton. Here the presilent addressed a great crowd. Concluding, he said: "I trust that when we come to write the final conclusions of this struggle into the permanent forms of treaty, that and humanity." President at Columbus.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 22.-President McKinley reached here late yesterday afternoon and was given an enthusiastic reception, by his former fellow townsmen. He was met at the train by a large delegation, including a detachment of the Seventeenth-United States infantry. He made an address in the evening, which was heard by an immense audience. After the address the presidential party left for Washington.

AMERICAN WOMEN IN THE PULPIT.

Bhaw. Dr. Shaw writes without any feeling in the way of resentment against the churches that exclude women from their ministry. She is merely telling facts.

By the beginning of the twentieth century Dr. Shaw believes there should be at least 2,000 women preaching the Gospel in the United States. It is claimed by the United Brethren that it was their denomination that ordained the first woman in the Christian ministry. She is Rev. Lydia Sexton. Miss Sexton was given holy orders in 1851 and worked in the church as a minister until 1890. But it is generally accepted that the first ordination of a woman was that of Antoinette Brown, who was graduated from the theological school at Oberlin in 1850, but who was refused a license to preach. Of women ordained by the Congregational denomination attention is called to Rev. Annis Ford Eastman, now assistant to Rev. T. R. Beecher in Elmira.

There are but three ordained women in the regular Baptist church—Mary C. Jones, of the state of Washington, ordained in 1882, Frances E. Townsley, Nebraska, ordained in 1985, and Edith Hill Booker, Kansas, or dained in 1894. The Baptists, says Dr Shaw, discourage women from entering their min istry. Mrs. Booker was for three years pastor of the First Baptast church of Pittsburg, Kan., before her marriage with Mr Booker The Free Will Baptists lave 17 ordained and nine licensed women ministers Women have preached in this denomination ever mince the beginning of the century As early as 1815 Clarissa A Danforth was a licensed preacher, but the first regularly ordained Free Will Baptist woman minister was Miss Anna Bartlett, of Paw Paw, Mich Rev. Dr. Shaw herself is a graduate of the theological school of the Boston university, and on being rejected as a minister by the Methodist Episcopal church she was ordained for the Methodist Protestant church in Tarrytown in 1880. The Methodist Episcopal church, although it never ordained women, licensed them until 1880. Even this concession was then repealed. Women, however, have acted and now act as evangelists and missionaries in the Methodist Episcopal church. Con-spicuous among these workers is Elizabeth W.. Greenwood, national evangelistic super-intendent of the W. C. T. U. Dr. Shaw says that it was the life desire of the late Frances E. Willard to be a minister, but her church would not permit it. The first Universalist woman minister was Olympia Brown, ordained in 1863. Augusta J. Chapin is the only woman who was ever given the degree of D. D., although many have earned it. She is a graduate of Michigan university, and Lombard university honored her with the degree in 1893. Aman da-H Deyo was ordained in 1886. Phebe A Hanford was orduned at Hingham, Mass. in 1868. Another Universalist woman minister is Rev. Florence Kotlock-Crooker. She was a minister in Chicago for 14 years. She

HOW TO BE DAINTY.

A Quality Which Makes a Girl Appear More Charming Than These Around Her.

Daintiness is that indefinable quality in a girl which causes her to appearmore charming than those around her; it is an attribute that is seldom inborn, but the result of culture. She is certain of making a good impression where others ignominiously fail to do EO, a fact which causes jealousy and makes those who are not dainty look on with envious admiration and wish that they too possessed the subtle charm. Daintiness, however, though not inherited, is the outcome of habit. A girl is dainty because she has been accustomed to give thought and time to being agreeable to others. Thus it comes natural to her. Her wealth of hair, always so glossy and carefully trained, owes its satiny appearance to the fact that she brushes it regularly and frequently, and not solely when she feels in a mood to do so, or when she desires to look extra mee. Her pretty, soft hands, with their shelllike pink nails, are always in an immaculate condition, for it is her habit and pride to keep them spotlessly clean. Her person appears to shou around her a fragrant perfume, delicate, yet quite perceptible. This subtle fragrance comes from her dainty way of putting her dresses into drawers which contain sachets of sweetly smelling powder, the scent from which seems to be a part of herself -Chicago Times-Herald.

An Excellent Precedent.

A Berlin civil court in a suit brought by a dressmaker for the payment of an expensive dress, to which the defense was that the dress did not fit, after making the defendant wear the garment in court, decided that she shoud not pay; on the ground that when a dressmaker asks as much as 250 marks ($62) for a dress, the price implies that the fit shall be perfect.

Pretty Table Decoration.

Two pretty bleas in table decoration come to us fresh from abroad, and are well worth copying. One is a delight fully novel decoration, formed by rib ben twisted in and out, forming a link between tiny nosegays laid simply on the cloth. When flowers are plentiful why not carry out the same idea with chains of flowers?--What-To-Est.

THE GIRL'S ALLOWANCE.

It Is Her Right and, at the Same Time, Teaches Her the Proper Use of Money.

"Every self-respecting woman, be she maid or wife, has a natural and intense dislike to ask her father or husband for every penny she needs," says Edward Bok, writing in the Ladies' Home Journal, on "Giving Allowances to Girls." "Nor is the feeling lessened by the fact that the money can be had for the asking and is always given ungrudgingly. It is the asking which women dislike. They justly recoil from it, and men ought to understand it better than they do. It should be said that the husband who refuses to give his wife a regular allowance is rapidly becoming the exception. But there are still too many fathers who withhold an allowance from their daughters. If it be true that the average girl has no idea of the value of money, how will she ever gain a better knowledge of its worth unless she is given the opportunity? Our girls must be educated in money matters, and there is no surer method than by giving them money of their own to spena; a regular weekly or monthly allowance given them to cover certain regulated expenses. It is only natural that at the start a girl will spend foolishly. To meet this inevitable experience the amount of the allowance should be accordingly regulated. After awhile, however, when she gets accustomed to the handling of money, she will learn its value better and be more judicious in spending it. To give a girl an allowance is not a privilege, but her right. To withhold it is to do her a serious wrong, and likewise is an injustice to the man whom she will marry and whose money she will be intrusted with to spend wisely. She should have experience before she reaches that point, and that experience can only come to her from her father in an allowance of her own while she is his

Miss Gertrude G. Grey has been admitted to the bar of the supreme court of Nevada at Carson City. We are informed, says the Legal News, by those who witnessed the examination that Miss Grey's answers to the 30 questions propounded to her were exceptionally good. WARSZAWIAK WINS.

New Trial For the Hebrew Missionary.

REPORT OF SYNOD'S COMMITTEE:

Says the Presbytery Has Been In Error-Famous Case Which Led to the Resignation of Dr. John Hall.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Oct. 22.—Herman Warszawiak, converted Hebrew, whom the New York presbytery of the Presbyterian church refused to ordain as a minister, whom the session of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church in New York suspended from its communion on account of alleged immoral conduct, has won a signal victory.

The missionary among the east side Hebrews, whose cause the late Dr. John Hall advocated so warmly, is to have a new trial before the session that once declared him guilty.

It was the Warszawiak case that threatened to rend asunder the powerful and wealthy congregation to which Dr. Hall had ministered for many years. While many in the congregation believed Warszawiak guilty, while many clergymen doubted his Christianity and his financial responsibility, Dr. Hall, believing him innocent, so warmly defended him that many of the pastor's friends were estranged.

It was Dr. Hali's connection with the Warszawiak case that led him to tender his resignation as pastor. It was the Warszawiak case that caused several influential members of the session to resign their offices. Friends of the clergyman intimated that his death was hastened by this trouble.

But though Dr. Hall did not live to see his views of Warszawiak's innocence prevail, it is nevertheless by his influence that the New York State synod of the Presbyterian church yesterday declared the presbytery was in error and the session overhasty.

The judicial committee of the synod yesterday afternoon brought in a report sustaining the appeal of Warszawiak against the action of the New York presbytery in refusing him membership in the church because of alleged fraudulent transactions in reference to a building fund of the Christian synagogue, and other sums intrusted to his care, together with conduct unbecoming a Christian.

The committee's report stated that they found the presbytery of New York in error, first, in irregularities of proceedings, second. in refusal to entertain exceptions, third, in refusal of reasonable indulgence, fourth, in hastening its decision. The report read in part:

"It appears to the committee that injustice may have been done Warszawiak in the original trial before the session in not appointing him any counsel, in not granting him access to the records, in totally striking out his testimony for contumacy and in allowing undue cross examinations into financial matters not included in the original charges. "It is therefore the order of the synod that the appeal be sustained and that the presbytery of New York he instructed to remand this case to the session of the Fifth Avenue church, with instructions to retry Herman Warszawiak upon amended charges, including the misuse of moneys contributed for missionary purposes."

The report was filed. Three days were spent by the committee in consideration of the case.

The committee's report caused considerable dissatisfaction among the members of the synod, but they could not alter the action of the committee, as its recommendations were final and no exceptions could be taken

MORET LEAVES MADRID.

Throws Up His Job as Sagasta's Counselor.

MADRID, Oct. 22 -- Senor Moret has become detached from Senor Sagasta, whose faithful counselor he had been in the peace negotiations.

Yesterday it was ostentatiously announced that Senor Moret had left Madrid for his country place. The cause of his departure is political jealousies.

For some time the press has daily commented upon the fact that Senor Sagasta received communications from Senor Montero Rios, and before he called the other ministers he invariably received a visit from Senor Moret

SOLDIERS

Who Used Paine's Celery Compound Did Not Suffer from Fever.

The soldiers who did the most good were those who kept well.

There were pleaty of brave men who were of little use when the time came, because they took less care of their health than they did of their muskets.

Malaria and other fevers soon picked out these men much more unerringly than the enemy's sharpshooters.

One set of men went about keeping well in a businesslike way. They took Paine's celery compound at the first indication of intestinal troubles, weakness, or when fatigued and liable to fever. They used Paine's celery compound to purify their blood and put their health on a firm basis as soon as they made up their minds to join the service.

Corporal Beck with thinks there was too much needless sickness among the volunteers. At Chickamanga many of his messmates followed his example and fortified themselves against disease by well uonrished and when under-nourished Paine's celery compound, and not a man in men and women and children, years of them had malaria or fever of any sort or spent a day in the hospital.

Corporal Beckwith writes:

Camp Olympia, Sept. 17, 1898.

Dear Sirs-When I see so many of my poor comrades coming home looking fit only for a hospital cot, I give thanks to Paine's celes; compound for the fact that I went through my enlistment with-It purifies the blood, as is so clearly out any doctor's medicines and am today even healthier than when I went to of all evidence of bad humors within. No man or woman can hope to live long if the Kidneys, Bladder, or Urinary Organs are diseased. Disorders of that kind should never be neglected. Don't delay in finding out your condition. You can tell as well as a physician. Put come urine in a glass or bottle, and let it stand a day and night. A sediment at the bottom is a sure sign that you have Kidney

There is a cure for Kilney and Bladder Diseases. It is Dr. David Kennedy's favorite Remedy. It has been for thirty years, and is today, the greatest and best medicine known for these troubles. Mr. WILLIAM W. ADAMS, cor. Jefferson Avenue and Clifton Street, Rochester, N. Y., says:-"Three years ago I was taken with Kidney disease very badly; at times I was completely prostrated; in fact, was so bad that menced the use of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and it was not long before I was entirely cured, and I have had no return of the trouble since. My weight has increased, and I never was so well as I am now. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy saved my life,"

Favorite Remedy acts directly upon the Kidneys, Liver and Blood. In cases of Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Ulcers, Old Sores, Blood Poisoning, Bright's Disease and Female Troubles it has made cures after all other treatments failed. It is sold for $1.00 a bottle at drug stores. A teaspoonful is a dose.

FOR SPECIAL SURROGATE. From the Warwick Dispatch.

a day was set for the doc-upon me. Upon that day I comtors to perform an operation

Mr. J. Floyd Halstead. Democratic candidate for Special Surrogate, is one of the brightest and most respected School Books, Tablets, Pencil young lawyers in Orange county. He is associated with Mr. J. W. Gott, in Goshen, and has developed remrrkable ability, having a considerable practice in the Surrogate's Court. Mr. Halstead's opponent is Mr. John Sweezy, the present incumbent, and well known as one of the active workers and agents of the Platt-Odell-Hock machine. As a reward for his services to the bosses Sweezy was appointed last year "special counsel so the Middletown State Hospital" at a salary of $1,200 a year. This was but one of hundreds of similar offices created by the Platt machine for the benefit of "the boys." Of course Mr. Sweezy has but little work to do as,"special counsel" except to draw his salary, which by the way, is nearly as much as the county pays its very able and learned County

When the voters consider these facts it will not be surprising if there is a majority in the county who will vote against Mr. Sweezy for Special Surrogate. A man who gets $1,200 from the State for doing nothing surely has little claim on the public for another office worth only $300 a year. The Dispatch predicts that Mr. Halstead will get many Republican votes in the Town of Warwick on this ac-

That persistent, clinging cold that you cheat yourself into believing will soon "wear off" is nothing more nor less than catarrh. Why wait until it becomes chronic? Why trifle with it until consumption gets you fairly in its grasp? It can be cured—promptly and surely.

The Republican campaign seems have degenerated into a tiger bunt. The platform eleminated State issues from the canvass and national issues are now being dropped and a frantic howl against Tammany substituted for intelligent and intelligible discussion of public questions. It is not very many years ago that Fassett bunted the tiger through up-State jungles and when the votes were counted he was 50,000 shy. And so will it be with Teddy.

The cost of maintaining Orange county's poor has enormously increased since the Board of Superintendents has been under Republican control. This has not been because there are more paupers to be supported, but because abuses have crept into the management at Orange Farm and because the interests | lot on Monday next, the nominces of the of the taxpayers are no longer watched | Chicago Platform Democracy will not and guarded as they were when Demo- | get a place on the ticket. crats controlled the expenditure of the county poor fund When Charles B Wood was elected superintendent, last year, it was notice to the Republican superintendents that the people were tired of lax and extravagant poor house management, but the warning was not heeded and the majority of the Board has run things in the old way. The demand for a reform of abuses is more pronounced, this year, and James Boyd, the Democratic candidate, an honest and capable man, will receive a very large vote outside of his own party from men who believe that when the farmers and workingmen of Orange county have to count every dime that they spend, their public servants in official place should be men who will watch the outgo of the dollars and spend no money needlessly or extravagantly

Louis Bedell, the candidate for Member of Assembly, whom the bosses forced on the Republican party in this district, is having a hard time of it, and it is safe to say that he wishes he was out of the race. He runs up against all kinds of snags and obstacles, some of his own making and some made for him by the pigheadedness of the party managers who will not listen to the advice of Republicans outside their own narrow circle, and who have needlessly antagomized and embittered scores of Republicans. Mr. Bedell's canvass is in a worse. muddle than it was, last year, for every- | Senator Platt as leader of the party " thing that counted against him then counts against him now, and he has also to contend with the widespread and deep-seated feeling among Republicans that the honorable ambitions of other men for legislative honors ought to be considered by the party leaders, and Commission.

that to force on the party for the fourth time a candidate whose weakness was proven at the last election, is anything but wise or calculated to strengthen the party. The result is general lukewarmness in the support that is accorded Mr. Bedell, and a quiet purpose on the part of many Republicans to bury him so deeply, this fall, that there will be no political resurrection for him, for in no other way can they make certain of terminating his life lease on this nomina-

TEDDY'S LAST REFUGE.

Dr. Johnson once wrote that "patriotism is the last refuge of scoundrels." Were he in the State or New York at this time he would certainly apply his epigram to the Rosseveltian effort to cover the iniquities of the Republican administration of affairs in this State, and the incompetent management of the quartermaster's and medical departments of the army.

In the extremities to which his use of the cloak of patriotism has forced him, the latest seems to be the worst exhibition by the doughty colonel. He argues that the Spaniards in Paris are delaying the peace negotiations because they expect the elections to give them moral support if the Democracy is successful His conclusion direct is that he should be elected that the administration of Mr. McKinley may thus be supported, and indirectly that the Democracy may be properly assumed to be favoring a nullification of the results of the last war. This is rather bold, and contemplates a short and imperfect memory on the part of the colonel's hearers. True, the politico-military men who have brought so much disgrace upon our institutions and made the only blot on the record of this war are appointees of a Republican administration, but will the colonel ask us in Middletown, when he comes here, to forget that, for weeks in the early spring when the inevitable crisis was staring us in the face, the administration wavered and hesitated? Will he skip the fact that the Democrats in Congress upheld the administration in money and policy, and argue that Spain can get any comfort from any American?

That the administration sought to get all the expected glory for pets and party was a humiliating incident; but the worst part was that the attempt brought disease and death, waste and destruction of American health and body in its train.

Three things the Colonel skips lightly over, he avoids the real issue of our own home affairs, and hopes to find us idiots enough to admire him when he covers mistakes and failures with the claim that in support of himself is the only salvation of the Republic against the broken down and beaten Spaniards. Truly, he is seeking the "last refuge."

ALBANY, Oct. 22-The Supreme Court, to-day, retused to issue an order directing the Secretary of State to file the Ulster county petition of the Chicago Platform Democracy, which was presented to him, yesterday. MONHAGENS' BIG FAIR.

A Rural Manager" Well Acted, Last Night-The Cake Walkers May Be Seen To-night-The Fair to Close, To-night The second production of "A Rural Manager," at the Casino, Friday night, drew a large audience, probably 1,600 being present. The reserved seats were all sold early in the morning and standing room was át a premium.

The comedy was given smoothly and with splendid effect. Individual hits were promptly recognized by the audience and several encores were given.

Bouquets for some of the favorities also went up over the footlights. Miss Martha Cordner was as graceful as ever, and Rolland Smith kept the spectators convulsed. Miss Campbell's "Rag Time Liz" was given with a good idea of the character. Bertha Morgans was especially strong in her character and Fred Rogers came on the stage at the point of George Bailey's pitch fork just as meekly as before.

At the conclusion of the comedy there were long calls for "Hathaway," and Chief Higham finally produced him. He was enthusiastically received.

SALE OF "HIGH BARNEY."

This Beautiful Property, Overlooking the City, to Se Sold at Auction, Tues-

"High Barney," the most charming and salubrious home-site in all this section of the country, is advertised in these columns to be sold under the hammer on the morning of Tuesday

The property comprises about 180 acres and is at the very threshold of the city. For more than three quarters of a century it has been in the possession of Oliver Crawford, long deceased, and his descendants. "High Barney" has more than once before been spoken of in these columns because of its healthfulness and its many charms; and attention has before now been called by us to the many attractions it would have for the summer boarder. Some of these, apart from its own wealth of beauties, are its accesability by railroad from New York, the superior markets which Middletown offers for table and other supplies, its short distance from this city's railroad stations, its salubrity and the magnificent panorama of country which from its high elevation is exposed to delighted vision. Some day all these advantages will, it may be depended, make "High Barney" a famous summer resort.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Makes the Blood Rich and Pure, Creates an Appetite and Restores Health, Vigor and Vitality,

"I feel that I ought to write a few words in praise of Hood's Sarsaparilla, which has done great things for me. I was in a delicate condition and was sick at my stomach and constipated. I tried remedies highly recommended for female weaknesses, but the medicines brought on other troubles. I was so weak I could not attend to my household duties, and I then determined to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. After I had taken this medicine a short time I began to gain strength. I rangaggggggggggggggggggggg RED APPLEBY was 15, tall, strong and from Philadelphia, while Tom Wilton was one year younger and from New York; but during the summer, the Applebys and the Wiltons occupied adjoining cottages at Lake Beach, and thus Fred and Tom always set off their Fourth of July firecrackers together.

The former seemed to know how to do almost everything, from constructing a big kite to sailing a heat; so. when the Wiltons decided to take a fortnight's trip to the White mountains, and were compelled to shut up their house meantime, as the servants unexpectedly left in a body, it was quite natural that Tom should ask Fred to keep an eye on it.

"You remember how angry that English coachman was when father discharged him last week?" he hurriedly explained, just before the train left. "Well, he might hear in some way about our all going off, and, although I don't suppose he'd risk breaking in himself, he may send a friend of his down from the city, you know. So

But at that moment the cars moved off, and Tom had to run for them.

Fred, however, fully comprehended what was required of him, and resolved to prove himself worthy of the

His mother being a widow, he had for the past two years been "man of the house" at home, and, indeed, his height and weight combined were calculated to keep small boys very respectful in his presence.

As soon as he had seen Tom safely gain the rear platform of the last car, Fred walked back to the cottages, which stood apart from the other houses in the village, the Wilton's being bounded on one side by a wood.

There was neither fence nor bedge to separate the grounds from the Applebys' and after making sure that every shutter had been closed, Fred strode back across the lawn to his own

They ought to have nailed them up as they do in the winter; but stop! I don't believe a man could get his hand in. So I won't worry about that point of approach."

Three times every day Fred walked around the cottage, which always stared back at him with the same closed, inhospitable air, and at the end of a week he concluded that the wrathful coachman must have forgotten all about the Wiltons and Lake Beach. However, he still kept up his careful daily inspection of the premises, thereby winning from his mother and sister the title of "the young" guardsman.'

One day, just before lunch, he caught up the baseball bat he always carried inctly beard a shutter slam in the direction of the Wiltons' dining-room. and quickening his steps, he rounded the corner of the wing in time to see the body and legs of a man dangling from a window on the ground floor, his head and arms being already inside.

"Caught in the act!" exclaimed Fred. under his breath, as he dashed forward and fearlessly grasped the burglar's coat with one hand, dropped the sash with the other, and then held his man down under it with both.

The robber screamed and kicked vigorously, but Fred paid no attention to the former and skillfully managed to avoid the latter; however, now that he had captured his man, like a good many other people similarly situated he did not know what to do with him He could not stand there holding has pusoner under the window for an irdefinite period, and yet he did not like to release him, for fear he should prove to be strouger than himself; as it was he had the rascal at a decided disadvantege, and Fred finally decided to een him there while he shouted for man. Very frequently he has been a sick man for years, but has recklessly refused to recognize nature's warnings. Severe illness is something that does not strike a man like a flash of lighthing. It creeps upon him by degrees, and at every step warns him with a new danger signal.

When a man feels "out of sorts" or "knocked out," or whatever he may call it, he is a sick man. It is time to take warning. Headaches, drowsiness, loss of sleep at night, loss of appetite, nervousness, had taste in the mouth in the moraing, and frightful dreams—all these are warnings of encroaching illness. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery creates appetite, cures dyspepsia, stimulates the liver, purifies the blood, quickens the circulation and tones the nerves. It makes rich, red, tissuebuilding blood. It builds firm flesh, but does not make corpulent people more corpulent. Unlike cod liver oil, it does not make flabby flesh. On the contrary, it tears down and excretes the unhealthy tissues that constitute corpulency, and replaces them with the firm, muscular tissues of good health. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. All bronchial, throat and kindred affments, as lingering coughs, spitting of blood and weak lungs are cured by it. For Delicacy. tilty, and for improvement cathe compreviou not single pasts Provided and sepport his bead and shoulders, otherwise serious consequences might have ensued. Is it was, Fred already began to feel a sort of compassion for the not ill-looking boy, so early taught to walk in the paths of evil, when suddenly his sister Maud, attracted by the repeated shouts for Mike, came stealing cau-tiously around the corner of the house, "Fred, Fred!" she called, in a timid voice, "what is the matter?" "I've got him!" replied her brother. And at the same instant Miss Maud caught sight of the burglar's heels. "O-h-h!" she screamed, and started to run home. But Fred called her back, and told her to bring him a piece of rope as quickly as possible. She vanished at once, and then Mike appeared on the scene. Speedily breaking in upon all the old Irishman's exclamations of wonder, Fred briefly explained how he had captured a young Englishmen in the very act of entering the house by force, and that as soon as the fellow was bound he was to guard him until a constable could be summoned.

"An' indude that I will, sur!" auswered Mike, cheerfully. "An' yez say he's afther bein' an Englisman? Och, sure an' now ould Ireland can pay back a bit av the grudge she owes ag'in 'em!"

"No, Mike, I don't want any violence used if it can be helped. The fellow's quite young, you see, and may be reformed yet. But here comes my sister with the rope."

And Fred dextrously caught the clothesline Maud threw him at a safe distance, where she had taken up a post of observation in company with Mrs. Appleby; who was full of commisseration for the prisoner, coupled with entreaties to her son to be careful and not break his back with the window

"Now, Mike, you hold his legs while I raise the window and slip this noose around his body.'

"Oh, do look out, Fred," cried Maud at this point. "or it will eateb about his neck and hang him!" "An' shure, 'twould only be a bit afore his toime," declared Mike. Fred continued: "Are you ready, there? Hold him tight now." And the window shot up, the noose went in, and the next moment Fred and his prisoner were brought face to face. "Why, how very respectable-looking he is!" whispered Mand to her mother. "What a shame!" said Mrs. Appleby. I wonder if he can't be sent to a sort of reformatory school, instead of to

And, indeed, the burglar was quite a handsome youth, very neatly dressed. But how angry he was to think he had been caught.

"What authority have you here, I would like to know?" he demanded of Fred, slashing about him at such a rate that the latter had hard work to keep him under control. "I tell you I'm a friend of the family!"

"So am I," put in Fred, "and for that reason I don't want you to get away. It seems to me, though, that for a friend you have a rather queer way of visiting-coming down when nobody's been at home for a week, and then trying to break in the house "But I was sent here for a gum, and told to open this very window. "Ha, ha! a likely story!" laughed Fred. "Here, Mike, hold this chap while I go for the constable."

"One moment first," interposed the thief, in a more conciliating tone. "If you'll just unbind my arms a second, I think I can show you proofs of what I assert. It's a letter which I'm pretty certain I put into one of my pockets yesterday.

"Which one?" asked Fred. "I prefer to take it out myself."

"As you please," replied the other. "My inside coat pocket, right hand," Sure enough, there was a letter there. and Fred loosened his hold a trifle when he perceived the address in Tom Wilsom's handwriting:

> MR SHERMAN BROWN. No. - West Thirty-six.h Street, New York City

"See what it says inside," continued the prisoner, calmly. And to his utter consternation, Fred read as follows: "My Dear Sherman: Awfully sorry I'm not going to be at home; but I'll lend you the gun with pleasure if you'll take the trouble to go down to our house at Lake Beach and get it yourself. I'd send you the key, but father doesn't think it's safe to put it in a letter However, with your slim fingers you can easily squeeze your hand through one of the shutters and lift the latch Nothing's nailed up. The gun stands in a corner of the dining-room, which is in the wing on the side next the woods Would write more, but am scribbling this while on the cars so as to mail it at the next stop. Your everlasting old chum, "TOM WILTON."

It was now Fred's turn to be the victim, and I think he suffered more during his attempts to explain matters than Sherman Brown had under the window sash.

But the young Englishman (for such he really was) took the awkward mistake very good-naturedly.

Mike was promised first choice of east-off garments at the Appleby's if he would keep quiet on the subject in the village, and after Fred had crawled in and secured the gun Sherman was prevailed upon to lunch with him.

Before the afternoon train left for the city, the two had become very good friends, Sherman professing himself happy to have made the acquaintance of one so faithful to his trust. At the same time, both boys would have been better pleased if Tom had not forgotten all about the waten be had asked Fred to keep .- Golden Days

ROOM FOR A FLOCK

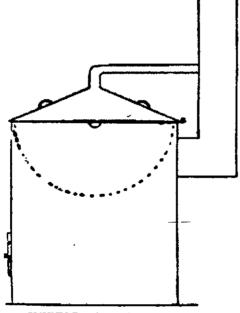

Close Crowding of Poultry Is Invariably Bound to Result in Disappointment.

If there is plenty of land it will pay to allow an acre of ground to 50 hens, the hens to occupy half an acre while grass is growing on the other portion. Of course, this may appear expensive, but the hens will thrive better and give a better profit. The greatest difficulty to be met with is the cost of fences. This, however, depends upon the kind of fence. It may be possible that if there is a space of an aere between the flocks they will remain separate, as stray members from one flock to another are always given a reception that is not very agreeable; but to have green food growing upon a portion of the ground will require fencing. Everything depends upon how much money one wishes to invest, the governing infinence in deciding such matters being capital. So far as space in the poultry house is concerned, it may be stated that the habit of crowding fowls in a small poultry house has existed so long that when the beginner is advised to allow each hen ten square feet of room in a poultry house he is prone to object because of the expense. "It takes too much money," is the reply. Probably that is true, but if one has not the capital he will find it more economical to stay out than to stay in with the conditions against him. If ten hens require a house ten by ten feet, it seems like a large space, but there should be plenty of room for stratching and keeping busy. Ten hens in such a house will lay more eggs than will twice that number that are crowded .- Farm and Fireside.

FOR COOKING FEED.

Description of a Kettle Which Has Proved a Perfect Success and Is Not Patented.

I have a kettle set in a sheet iron jacket which is very handy for cooking feed for the hens. It was set in the basement part of our two-story henhouse, on the ground, as it has no grates or hottom. The steam would fill the room and wet the walls "wringing wet." I disliked to put it somewhere else, as I do not like to carry stuff, and must save all the steps I can. After some study I tried a cover rigged as shown in the cut. A tin cover was made to fit the top and a two-inch pipe attached to it and the stovepipe. A piece was made to slip over the rest so the cover can be taken off easily. Even when the cover is not down square no steam comes out into the room. It is a perfect success and not patented. The capacity of the kettle is increased nearly a bushel, as the potatoes will cook in the steam at the top sooner than in the boiling water below .-- C. E. Chapman, in Rural New Yorker.

AMONG THE POULTRY.

Sunflower seed improves the gloss of the plumage.

Introduce new blood among the poultry once a year.

Give lime for growth of bone and for eggshell material. Buckwheat, oatmeal and milk are good for laying hens. A little cayenne pepper in the food often stimulates laying. Good leghorn hens may be kept until they are five years old.

The usual causes of roup are cold. dampness and exposure.

A laying hen should have her food and drink at regular intervals.

Do not winter late pullets that have failed to make a good growth. If the hens show an inclination to pull feathers, feed them salt pork. It is essential that confined fowls be upplied with plenty of gravel.

Corn is a fattening food, but can nearly always be given at night to good idvantage.

Intelligent management and feeding are as necessary with chickens as with other stock.

The best geese for feathers are the Embden, for the reason that they are entirely white. Cornmeal fed to poultry will be the better if mixed with boiling water, which partly cooks it To bring the best prices, turkeys should be fed all the corn they will cat for ten days before marketing. Common sand is a poor substitute for g avel. It is neither coarse enough nor sharp enough to answer the purpose. In selecting fowls to winter, keep one danke for every five ducks, a tomfor every ten turkeys, one cock for every dozen heus. Keep the hens with a reasonably sharp appetite, and they will lay more eggs which will batch better and pro-

PRESENTED WITH A CLOCK.

A Yery Pleasant sectal Event in the Alert Parlor, Thursday Evening. From the Norwich Sug.

There has always been more than a fraternal feeling between the Eagle Hose Company, of Middletown, and the Alerts, of this place. The hospitable treatment tendered the Alerts once several years ago by that company upon the occasion of a visit to Middletown led to an exchange of hospitalities and courtesies, the most recent of which occurred in the parlors of Alert Hose Company, Thursday evening, when a delegation from the Middletown company was present for the purpose of making the Alerts a handsome present as a mark of appreciation for courtesies exreuded during the tournament held in Norwich in August of last year.

Preparation had been made to receive the committee, and in its honor an informal banquet had been made. The covers were spread for the members of the company, the committee from Middletown and a few invited guests. The city band orchestra was in attendance and while the ear was being delighted by the sweet strains of music. the guests sat down to an elaborate sup ..., provided by Caterer William W. Cink of the Eagle hotel.

The table decorations were fitting to the accasion Mounted in the centre of the table was the large eagle that had be a presented some time ago to the Alerts by the Middletown company. A card attached to the magnificent bird bore this inscription:

My brother Eagles, I well ome you. & Don't steal me for I am in good hands. Assemblyman Jotham P. Alids presided as teastmaster and toasts were given by President Elwood of the Eagles who responded to our guests. Henry E. Randall, Rev. Robert N. Martin, Postmaster Jones, Recorder Throop, Editor E. S. Moore, and Hon. George W. Ray responded to "the Alerts of bye-gone daya.'

The committee from Middletown consisted of President C. L. Elwood, Foreman Leon Simpson, Rundall Wood, Burt Lamont, Lanson Stevens, Fred Cooper and Chaplain J. N. Emery, pastor of the Universalist Church, of Middletown. They presented to the Alerts on behalf of the Eagle Hose company, a very handsome bronze and gilt clock, upon which, carved in a solid gold plate, is this inscription:

Presented to Alert Hose Co., of Norwich, N. Y., Oct 20, 1898, by Eagle Hose Co., No. 2, Middletown, N. Y.,

It pleasant memories of Aug. 18-19, '97. The presentation was made in a happy speech by Rev. J. N. Emery, chaplain of the Eagles, and responded to by Assemblyman Alida.

The invited guests were: Congressman Ray, Police Justice Throop, Postmaster Jones, Chief Engineer Watts, Thomas D. Scott, Rev. R. N. Martin, H. E. Raudall, Editors Edward S. Moore, Charles M. Martin and Geo. H. Carley.

PROMPT DETECTIVE WORK.

A Permer Middletowner Run Down by Sis Uncle and stolen Money Recover-

The Pequannock Valley Argus, published at Butler, N. J., says that Will Sayer, formerly of this city, arrived in Butler, last week, to visit his aunt, Mrs. Samuel H. Courter. Saturday evening, while Mr. and Mrs. Courter were absent from home he left the bouse. When they returned they lound that one of the bedrooms in the house had been entered, a bureau drawer broken open and $318 taken. Inquiry developed the fact that the young man bad paid a liveryman $3 to take him to Paterson and Mr. Courter hastened there after him, and not finding him took the next train to New York.

Therest of the story is thus told by the Argus: "Thinking it probable that Sayer might have pulled for his mother's home in Stamford, Conn., he went there, and his detective instinct proved to have led him in the right direction, for he found his man just ready to sit down and partake of supper. Of course there was a scene, and a demand for restitution from the young man brought forth the remnants of the roll, which had dwindled $130 and looked quite dwarfed in comparison to its original size. The young man was sporting a complete new outfit, which Mr. Courter brought back home, atthough he took compassion on the culprit and allowed him to keep his underclothes, which will make a light-weight suit for fall weather. Sain has a promise that some sweet day he may yet jingle in his pocket the $130 shortago.

How to Store Chestnuts.

From the Honescale Independent. A good plan for storing chestnuts for winter use is to place a small quantity of salt in the bags with the nuts. They will then become soft and sweet and any worms which happen to be smong them will be driven out. The bags will become covered with sweat caused by the sait, but this will not impair the quality of the nuts in the slightest degree. This plan is followed by many persons and is considered one of the best.

A, 23d N. J. Volunteers, in 1861, and that he has an honorable discharge. Mr. Boyd is one of the best candidates offered by either party for many years for the very important position of Superiutendent of the Poor. Himself a taxpayer, and knowing the abuses recently practiced at the county farm, his election will be a step forward in the direction of better government.

For that reason many Republicans will support the candidacy of Mr. Boyd, and it is probable he will be elected. Respectfully,
